Technical School Is 250 Years Old

PRAGUE (Czechoslovakia)—The Technical School in Prague, capital of Czechoslovakia, recently observed its 250th anniversary, the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization reports.

The school is believed to be the oldest public technical college in the world. It was founded in honor of a Czech technician in 1705.