

DRAGGED CHAIN ENDS CAR ILLS

MELBOURNE (Australia)—. A chain dangling on the ground had prevented car sickness, the National Safety Council reported.

People prone to car sickness remained normal when the chain was in contact with the ground and became ill when the chain was removed without their knowledge, it said. Cases were reported in which sick passengers recovered as soon as the chains were put down.