

Taxpayers Hail Allah for Fire

CAIRO (Egypt.),—A short while ago the citizens of Al Hogarija, in Yemen, streamed to the town's biggest mosque.

The community's tax collection office had burned and records of fiscal transactions, including all traces of tax indebtedness and of faulty income declaration, had gone up in smoke. Whence the praise to Allah, the Benificent.