

U. S. Families

Nine tenths of the population of the United States was living in family units in 1950.