

Susan Lum Now Mrs. L. F. Bothwell

IVORY PEAU DE SOIE fashioned the bridal gown Susan Lum donned Saturday afternoon for the 4 o'clock service at Christ Episcopal Church in Alameda that made her the wife of Lindley Fowler Bothwell Jr.

The dress was trimmed with re-embroidered Alencon lace, seed pearls and iridescent sequins, and was made with a portrait neckline and a full, gathered skirt that extended into a train. Her veil of Brussels rosepoint lace was nearly floor length and she carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley, butterfly orchids and ivy.

The Rev. Richard Millard officiated at the service at which Dr. Donald Dyer Lum of Alameda gave his daughter in marriage.

They were preceded to the altar by five attendants frocked in stiffened chiffon dresses in a light aqua shade. The gowns were made with square necklines and accordion pleated skirts and trimmed with sashes of dark aqua.

The honor attendants, Mrs. Henry J. Guerin, Susan's sister, and Joan Menzies, carried bouquets of pinocchio roses combined with stephanotis and ivy. They wore wreaths of the same flowers.

Arrangements of pinocchio roses and ivy were carried by the three bridesmaids, Bonnie Bothwell, sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. A. Gordon Nicholson Jr., the former Jacqueline Lum, a cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Robert McShane.

Howard Speer performed best man duties and guests were seated by Henry Guerin, Donald Jordan, Barry Conner and Dick Conner.

The reception followed at the Lum home in Alameda. The couple will live in this East Bay city when they return from their southern California honeymoon.

The bride studied at Stanford for two years and has just completed her junior year at UC. Her husband, son of Mrs. Marion S. Bothwell of Alameda and the senior Lindley F. Bothwell of Woodland Hills, is an alumnus of the University of Southern California, where he is affiliated with Sigma Alpha Epsilon.
