

Radiologist Faces 19th Operation

TURIN (Italy), Oct. 22. — (AP)—Prof. Mario Ponzio, 70, internationally known radiologist whose left arm and collarbone were amputated July 2, Monday will undergo another operation, his nineteenth, for removal of his right hand.

He suffered radium burns of both hands in his early years of X-ray experiment.