

SMOG STUDY—A Stanford Research Institute chemist inspects pipe fittings leading into a 500-cubic-foot chamber used in connection with air pollution research. Headquarters for the investigation by SRI is the Air Research Laboratory, Pasadena. The laboratory's facilities have recently been doubled in size and equipment. Another large SRI research laboratory is in Palo Alto.